

HIGHWAY HIGHLIGHTS

The cost of constructing the many provincial links in this national highway network will cost over One Billion Dollars.

The length of the Trans-Canada Highway from Victoria, British Columbia to St. John's, Newfoundland is just under 5,000 miles.

A trip over the entire length of the Trans-Canada route takes the traveller over more than 500 bridges.

The Act of Parliament which authorized the completion of such a network of highway links was passed in 1949.

TRANS-CANADA
REFERENCE

Trans-Canada Highway.....

Roads to Recreational Areas.....

Federal Capital.....

Provincial Capitals.....

Main Railways.....

Parks.....

Scale of Miles

0 50 100

1962

HIGHWAY

This helpful guide to a Canadian pathway of pleasure is printed on a Canadian paper of quality

This map, designed and produced by HOWARD SMITH
PAPER MILLS, is lithographed on HOWARD SMITH ROAD MAP BOND. This high-quality Map Bond provides those characteristics which fulfill the highest requirements of the modern map printer:

- HIGH COLOUR (brightness)
- REQUIRED OPACITY
- EXCELLENT PRINTING SURFACE
- OUTSTANDING INK HOLD-OUT CHARACTERISTICS
- TOP FOLDING QUALITIES
- LOW BULK

HOWARD SMITH PAPER MILLS LIMITED
1912 • Makers of Canada's finest papers • 1962

"A Mari Usque Ad Mare" — from sea to sea — the legend borne by the coat of arms of Canada, world's second largest country in area. Linking this immense land of rugged beauty is the longest paved highway on earth: The Trans-Canada Highway.

This splendid spanway—stretching from Victoria, British Columbia to St. John's, Newfoundland—traverses a magnificent breadth of natural beauty and fascinating variety. You may enjoy a roaring river or a languid lake... a majestic mountain or a sweep of plain... the wonder of wildlife encountered along the way... the recreational pleasures of the great outdoors (swimming, canoeing, fishing, hunting)... you can enjoy the relaxing pleasure of seeing new places or re-living history among Canada's famous fortresses. From the bright lights of great cities to the quiet byways of country towns, this is a route of ever-changing freshness and fascination.

Whatever your favourite recreation, you'll find it along the Trans-Canada Highway. We hope this map will help you to enjoy every moment of your trip.

THE TRANS- CANADA HIGHWAY

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN

A ROUTE OF VAST AND VARIED
SCENERY

Canada P-2-IV